WATER CELEBRATED IN NEW EXHIBIT AT THE JOHNSON COUNTY MUSEUM

A recently opened exhibit at the Johnson County Museum puts the spotlight on our favorite topic: water! The exhibit, titled “Ripples: Water, Community, and You” takes a deep dive into our community’s relationship with water, and includes profiles on water sources, quality, history, agriculture, regional development, and much more.

The Johnson County Museum partnered with WaterOne in the development of this exhibit, and WaterOne’s history as Johnson County’s water provider is a featured topic. WaterOne donated several artifacts from its collection, which are on display as well. Bring the family and check it out!

Spring is here! Don't Forget To Check Your Sprinklers

Don't set it and forget it! When you get ready to fire up your lawn's sprinkler system for the first time this spring, take a moment to double check the settings on your sprinkler controller. Irrigation systems can use a lot of water, and making sure you only water when you want will help prevent any surprises in your water bill as summer approaches.

Help us run our system greener and more efficiently with Smart Watering. By watering on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and weekends, you can help us use less electricity in water production and maybe even improve pressure in your neighborhood. ♦

“ You have a hero on your staff! WaterOne Field Representative Lucas Brenner has gone beyond the call of duty and rescued me. Tonight I learned that a pipe had broken in my home and water was going everywhere and I could not get a plumber. Within 10 minutes, the water was shut off for us. Lucas went above and beyond to help me out. WaterOne is so fortunate to have him. ”

WaterOne Celebrates "Women of Water"

March is Women's History Month, celebrating the contributions of women in history and contemporary society. In honor of Women's History Month, WaterOne highlighted a few of its dedicated, talented employees who work hard every day to bring delicious, high-quality water to our community. See the full interviews on WaterOne's social media and cheer on our women of water! ♦

"I love the mission and vision around making sure we're providing safe, clean, and high quality water to our communities. I'm very thankful to be here at a company that really recognizes their employees."

Elaine Corbin, Customer Service Manager

"I started at WaterOne as an intern and now I'm here full time, and I love it. I get to work with a really amazing group of people who support me, and they make my job really enjoyable."

Emily Chambers, Microbiologist

"We get to interact with many different departments, and it has been really cool to get to know so many field experts. There are so many amazingly talented people here and so it's been great to get to work alongside them."

Erin Leckey, Senior Accountant

"Security is a challenging industry, but I take pride in protecting the people and infrastructure that keep our water safe. It's about making an impact, breaking barriers, and showing that women belong in every part of this industry."

Jessica Hardy, Security Coordinator

"My favorite part about WaterOne is the overall culture. Everyone here is so kind, so down-to-earth. Everyone genuinely cares not only about what they do, but who you are as an employee and as a person."

Madison Heitzman, Distribution Administrative Assistant

"For me, being a woman of water means leveraging my unique background, experiences, and perspectives to ensure our community has access to reliable, clean drinking water."

Megan Fairchild, Project Engineer II
